

Show us YOUR favorite Old Kentucky Home – win an all-expense paid weekend in Bardstown

This is MY Old Kentucky Home! Facebook Photo Contest

May is National Historic Preservation Month, and the Kentucky Heritage Council wants to know: What place says to you, “This is MY Old Kentucky Home!”

Click to win and vote for your favorites.

- 1) Download our sign, or better yet make your own!
- 2) Hold it in front of your favorite Old Kentucky home, then get a snapshot.

3) “Like” our Facebook page at facebook.com/KYSHPO, then click the “Enter to Win” icon and tell us where the photo was taken, and why it is YOUR Old Kentucky Home. Then submit your photo to win an all-expense paid trip to Bardstown, Bourbon Capital of the World and site of Federal Hill, the house that inspired Stephen Foster to write “My Old Kentucky Home.”

Contest participants may submit one photo per Facebook account, but can click on the icon to view the gallery of entries and vote once a day for their favorite photo. At the end of the contest period, the 5 photos with the most votes will go into a random drawing to determine the winner.

Be creative! Home can be any building or place that holds memories. The only rule being, it is 50 years old or older.

Contest period is noon April 23 through midnight Friday, May 23. See contest rules for complete details.

The contest prize package includes overnight accommodations at one of Bardstown’s historic bed and breakfast inns, a gift card for downtown dining or shopping, and admission for two adults to:

- My Old Kentucky Home State Park /Federal Hill
- The Stephen Foster Story (June 14-Aug. 16)
- Private tour of Wickland, home of three governors, or a visit with the Spirits of Wickland
- Civil War Museum of the Western Theater
- Heaven Hill Distilleries Bourbon Heritage Center
- Barton 1792 Distillery
- Willett Distillery
