Grant Funding for Sacred Places

Historic houses of worship, from prairie churches to urban synagogues, are the bedrocks that continue to sustain us as a people, uniting us in service and celebration. Together, we can protect them for generations to come—apply for a grant from the National Fund for Sacred Places to keep these places as an important part of our national cultural heritage.

The National Fund provides training, planning grants, technical assistance, capacity-building support, and capital grants up to $250,000 to congregations of all faiths for rehabilitation work on their historic facilities.

Congregations are urged to submit their letter of intent by March 15 for the Fund for Sacred Places for projects such as:

- Urgent repair needs that are integral to life safety.
- Projects that improve the usability or ADA accessibility of the property.
- Renovation projects for important community outreach.

In the four years of this program, 52 houses of worship from an Art Deco gem in Asheville, NC to a Modern sanctuary in New York City have received more than $10 million in funding supporting projects that range from steeple stabilization to exterior masonry repair to HVAC replacement. Learn about past participants Temple Beth Ahabah (Richmond, VA) and North Christian Church (Columbus, IN), as well as the full list of the 2020 recipients.

If interested send them a private message on their Facebook page.

We're excited! Local Honey is now open in downtown London at 300 N. Main Street. Local Honey is a new farm to table concept with a "hip eclectic comfort foods" vibe. At Local Honey, we partner with our local farms to bring you clean and fresh food which better supports our local economy. At Local Honey, LOVE is our key ingredient!

As Main Street Winchester says it's not the most exciting photo but certainly one to celebrate. They are working on a project to make the old historic sidewalks ADA compliant with ramps. This is quite the process and weather is always a factor. KYMS is not sure how or why the sidewalks were elevated in the past, but the ramps are a great design aspect that will enable those who could not navigate stairs access to all the great things in their downtown.

Main Street Monday is a place where Kentucky Main Street is able to share with you information from our partners across the state and the country. AARP is a great resource when looking at how to plan communities that work for everyone especially those that might require needs that we can put in our design workplans. Are there enough benches downtown? Are the sidewalks free from hazards? How are we creating livable communities for everyone. Here is a simple chart to look at the 8 domains of livability that help make a community/city successful.

The 8 Domains of Livability

The availability and quality of these community features impact the well-being of older adults — and help make communities more livable for people of all ages.

1. Outdoor Spaces and Buildings
2. Transportation
3. Housing
4. Social Participation
5. Respect and Social Inclusion
6. Work and Civic Engagement
7. Communication and Information
8. Community and Health Services
