We are excited to have every KYMS director in attending along with many boards and gov't officials and civic leaders. Don't be left out!

Vacant buildings, vacant lots, how are those affecting our civic pride? If we aren't proud of our community how to we get others to be invested? Blighted & Abandoned buildings happen for a multitude of reasons, but the negative impact they make is far reaching. How do we return these to the good of the community. It is sometimes hard work, but all worth it. Next week our directors will hear from Colby Kirk in Harlan to learn how they have made an impact in their community that took not much effort, but is making a big impact. What can a city do, what can the Main Street program do? It takes everyone working together to address the problem and to work with owners who are likely not the villains they are sometimes made out to be.

Proud Places is featuring many things this month on their Facebook page that you may find helpful. This is just one sampling.

All films screening now 24/7 on-demand, through the end of March. You can find the link on Proud Places Facebook page along with other helpful articles and information.

"Covid Didn't Do This" points the lens at the effects of ongoing intentional disinvestment that devastated urban neighborhoods long before Covid made its impact on city life.

"Forgiving Earth: Voices from Detroit's Urban Farms" introduces us to urban gardeners who are planting new hope for their neighborhood.

"Landskating" takes us to Barcelona, where marginalized urban spaces are reclaimed and redeveloped as skate parks. See how this small-scale project brings joy and community to the neighborhoods.

Then we go to China in "Shanghai Transitions" which presents the other end of the spectrum. In this short film, tour Shanghai neighborhoods with local Dutch architects as they reflect on the impact of extreme, intense, rapid development.

You can find additional articles regarding vacancies on the pages of Proud Places, Revitalize or Die, and tune in tomorrow at 1:00 pm on Downtown Happy Hour, to hear from Vacant to Vibrant!

Why we need to support our neighborhood locations. As bar hours extend and we are learning to manage COVID, it is great to be outdoors and see friends, but remember to follow guidelines so we do not suffer a setback in our progress. As the turtle knew, slow and steady will win this race!

We would like to take this opportunity to say THANK YOU to everyone who has contributed to the Beattyville relief fund especially our other Main Street programs. Your assistance is making it possible for our friends and neighbors to reopen their small businesses. While there is still much work to do, this has certainly helped them begin the process of recovery.

Patios are open!!

Everyone is excited to see Spring arrive. It is time again for sitting outside and social distancing while supporting our local downtown businesses.

We look forward to seeing you!

Morehead: When your team goes to the big dance during a pandemic the community rallies to make sure you can social distance and watch it on the big screen. Thanks to Downtown Morehead, Sawstone Brewing Company, HEP Plus, the City of Morehead and Morehead Cinema for assistance is making this happen.

While the outcome wasn't what was hoped, it was a great sense of pride in their small town.

It's another COVID birthday for these directors. Happy belated to Katie Axt-Paducah who celebrated yesterday.

And to Emma Wireman—Salyersville and Jacob Roan—Pineville who will celebrate on March 26!

COVINGTON : Work continues inside and out on the renovation of 535 Madison Ave., aka the Republic Bank Building. Four of the six floors in the 27,000 square-foot building have been mostly vacant for 10 to 15 years. The development team called The Covington Republic LLC (consisting of Sparen Real Estate, Manning Construction, and WorK Architecture + Design) bought the building and is turning the inside into Class A office space, expanding its elevator, enhancing its historic façade, and adding a rooftop bar and restaurant space.
