Main Street Monday!

Instagram Contest from National Main Street

In honor of the 4th of July, we want to celebrate the patriotic spirit of your Main Street. Whether it be fireworks, parades, barbecues, live music, block parties, street fairs, or any other special activity...we can't wait to see all that red, white and blue!

Below are two easy steps to follow for a chance to be featured on our social media:

Follow @NatlMainStreet on Instagram

1. Tag your photo/video with #MainStreetFourth and #WeAreMainStreet

We'll only share the submissions that follow the above instructions.

Reminder: Reinvestments are due July 15th!
Remember to send them to

KYPMainStreet@ky.gov

In recognition of the Fourth of July, the U.S. Small Business Administration (@SBAgov) will host a Twitter chat about how to start or grow a business for veteran entrepreneurs on July 1, 2019. Join us and industry experts as we share tips to help veterans and the military community start, grow and expand businesses. Participate/follow along with the hashtag, #SBAchat.

Our partner MACED has free audits right now for all EKY businesses that qualify as a SBA business (they can do a quick questionnaire here to find out if they qualify - <https://maced.org/freeaudits/>)

Along with many other towns and communities across the nation Perryville has received a considerable amount of rain. This was the Chaplin River this week just out the Main St. office.

Happy Belated June Birthday

Kentucky Main Street Farmer's Market

In the last 5 years markets have brought farmers and communities together in Main Street communities. Several of these such as Murray have had a downtown market for many years, but for others this is a recent event. It is a great way to support our local small business farmers and get people into our downtowns. This week we are featuring some of the markets across the state.

Many items and farms at the market are certified by our partner, the Department of Agriculture and are labeled Kentucky Proud .

When you buy Kentucky Proud, you buy local food that you can serve to your family with confidence.
www.kyproud.com

You can find recipes, and products on their web-site and sometimes right at the market!

Bardstown

A variety of items can be found at each of the markets, to the right is a sampling from Covington.

Cynthiana is one of several communities who have their market in several locations to serve the community.

You can get a hot breakfast with local products at Danville's market and buy something to cook or serve in when you get home!

La Grange market complete with train (on left) excitement for the those young and older.

London has acquired new signage and the market is held at their wonderful multi-use Pavillion in downtown. Best fresh cheese curds around ! They also use their pavilion for concerts and other events.

The University of Kentucky also has a number of resources you can get.

Contact your local UK extension office.

Middlesboro Farmer's Market is right on Main Street and is indoor outdoor! Some vendors are always set up in the indoor market, but in the event of rain they can move all the market inside! We love seeing young shoppers!

Even bad weather can't keep people away from Murray Main Street's award winning market!

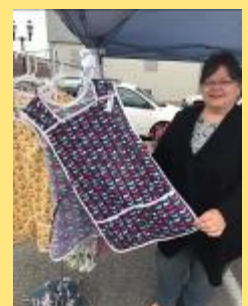

The kids are in charge in this vendor booth and they are serious about their sales! Way to go Falwell Family and Papa's Produce Barn#KyProudFarmersMarkets @kentucky proud @downtownmurray #murraymainstreet

Where you can sample before you buy.

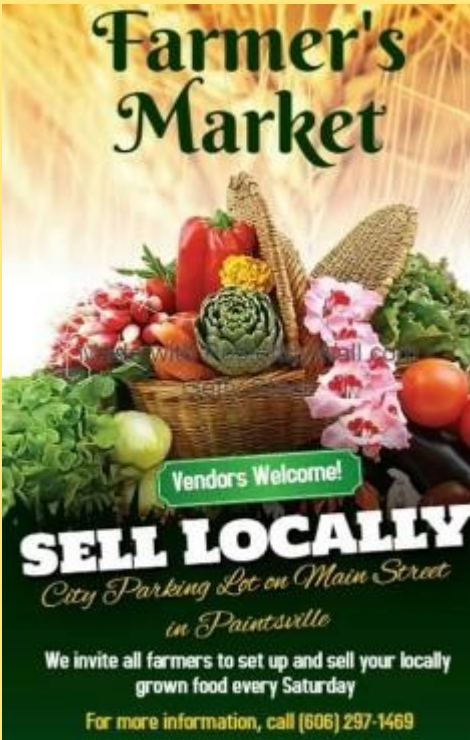

Check out these beautiful eggs! You don't find these in the grocery.

Scottsville

Did you know WIC and Senior FMNP can be used at your local markets? It is a great way to help provide healthy food for those in need.

Springfield

Did you know KY Proud has a special logo for Appalachia?

More children selling and buying at the market in Williamsburg.

Do you know what this rooster is made from? Look closely.

We bet you had no idea that this many Main Street communities have a farm market in their Main Street district. There are some in the counties or just outside of the district. From farm to table all on the same day!

From Murray to Winchester it doesn't matter what side of the state you are on, fresh produce and artisan breads, crafts, and more are worth braving Mother Nature for.

You can also find some great t-shirts at the market to help you promote your local farmer!

Planting seeds for the future in Winchester.

This is a membership option just for individuals. It's an opportunity for supporters of the Main Street movement to invest in our work and gain access to some exciting benefits.

David Burch had a wonderful visit with Sandy Dunahoo, Commissioner of the Department for Local Government. She was the featured speaker at the Scottsville-Allen County Chamber of Commerce breakfast. Sandy did an excellent job explaining the DLG. Pictured: Donna Jones (David's sister) Sandy Dunahoo, and David.

Caroline Reece, Maysville, has the best office and a great view of her community out her window. Staff architect, Erick Rawlings, and I had a great visit with her.

We even got a tour of the new brewery and bakery!

National Register coordinator, Lisa Thompson, and I with Perryville director, Vicki Goode and others about a possible NR nomination. While we were in Boyle Co. we visited with interim director, Dustin Duvall. Dustin always has a smile on his face.

Main Street London. Did you know Dreaming Creek is a real place, not just their name.

Murray has it's first mural downtown and it is lovely. It's located on the side of the Murray-Calloway County Board of Realtors building. It features the oldest homes on Murray's Main Street. The artist, Tom Jackson, says he included small details the community asked for and some of his own personal touches.

A watermelon social, what a great idea in Salyserville!! Great idea to R & D!

Williamsburg will be rocking this Friday!

KYMS will be out of the office beginning July 4th until July 14th. There will be a July 1st edition of MSM.

The next edition will be on July 16th.

Please send anything you would like to be in MSM as soon as possible.
