Main Street Monday!

Can it really be August already! KYMS will be on the road this week. On Tuesday we will be conducting a regional board training in Danville with the communities of Bardstown, Campbellsville, Danville, Perryville, and Springfield. We are excited to hold this regionally inclusive training. We will also be having a new directors workshop in the afternoon. Wednesday, site visits & meetings with CLG coordinator, Vicki Birenberg, Thursday speaking to KCHEA and travel to Beattyville on Friday to finalize plans for the fall conference! It will be a busy week on the road!

In addition to the KYMS conference in September you may also want to mark your calendars for the KLC conference that will be held in Covington September 24-27. This years' conference will have a lot of information geared towards downtowns. Roger Brooks will be one of the Keynote speakers along with Jonathan Webb. More information along with registration information for the fall KYMS conference will be coming next week. Next week's MSM may come on Tuesday due to being out of the office most of the week.

We are excited to welcome Covington Farmers Market vendors Rose&Mary Bakery to the Cov! Rose & Mary Bakery will be opening a brick & mortar storefront in the 400 block of Scott St. later this year. Until then you can visit them every Saturday at the Farmers Market.

History and Music in Danville this weekend!

If you loved engaging with Jason Smith at the Main Street bake-off you can see him again at the Farm to Table dinner on September 13th in downtown Cynthiana!

We love our local Farmer's Markets and our KYMS communities have some of the best in the state! Enter the contest for the "Freshest Party in Town" instructions are below!

KENTUCKY DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Press release

FRANKFORT — Agriculture Commissioner Ryan Quarles invites Kentuckians to celebrate Kentucky Farmers' Markets Week by visiting a local market and posting photos from their visit to Instagram in August. Entrants could win a basket of Kentucky Proud products.

For the second year in a row, the Kentucky Department of Agriculture (KDA) is conducting the social media contest to commemorate Farmers' Markets Week Aug. 4-10 and raise awareness of the fresh local foods available at Kentucky farmers' markets.

"We like to call our farmers' markets 'The Freshest Party in Town,'" Commissioner Quarles said. "A farmers' market is a great place to buy farm-fresh foods produced by your friends and neighbors just down the road. But they're more than that – they are experiences where you may find live entertainment, cooking demonstrations, activities for kids and many other attractions. I look forward to seeing your photos of Kentucky's vibrant, colorful farmers' markets."

To be eligible for the contest, photos must capture the people, enjoyment, beauty, and culture of Kentucky's farmers' markets. Each post should include a single photo, must tag the Kentucky Proud Instagram account (@kentuckyproud), must include #KyProudFarmersMarkets, and must be public. Entrants must be Kentucky residents 18 or over. Photos must be posted from Aug. 1-31 to be eligible.

Winners will be selected at random. The KDA will award multiple gift baskets that each contain Kentucky Proud products valued at more than $100. For full contest rules, go to https://bit.ly/315jqjD.

Kentucky has more than 160 farmers' markets in 113 counties. To find a farmers' market near you, go to kyproud.com/farmers-markets.

At Impress in Shelbyville you can preserve those special memories like this handwritten recipe card printed on cutting board. Order one for yourself or a special gift. Other styles and designs available. Open Wed-Sat 11:30- 4:00

Young farmers at the Murray Farmer's Market

State coordinator, Kitty Dougoud, and Heart of Danville board member, Kate Snyder who is also the Director of Marketing & Development at the Art Center of the Bluegrass worked together last week at Artists Thrive Summit being held at Berea College. Participants came from 24 states including Alaska! #artistthrive

It is a great program for Main Street directors looking to include the creative individuals into their economic vitality plans. In addition, you should be looking at the AIR program at Berea for additional training in community development. For either of these programs contact Beth Flowers at flowersm@berea.edu We hope to have a presentation from her at our fall conference in September.

Happening in Bardstow tomorrow evening.

Hyden, Kentucky has a wonderful outdoor pavilion! If you would like to have more information about it contact Dean Osborne at Hazard Community College school of Bluegrass and Traditional Music.

It may be time for a summer refresher. When was the last time your board did a SWOT Analysis?

Have you ever held one for your merchants?

*What are your strengths

*What are your weaknesses?

*What are your opportunities/

*What are your threats?

The weatherman says it's gonna be perfect weather to visit a Main Street community near you and enjoy all the great food and businesses in your downtown, and don't forget movies and music this week! Get out and enjoy the community and visit your Farmer's Market and do a little local back to school shopping!
