Main Street Monday!

Boyle Co. boards and directors

Boyle county is home to 2 Main Street programs!

It was a packed house for board member training last week in Danville. What started out as new board members evolved into a regional board training that was a big success! We had over 30 people in attendance including 7 Main Street directors, 3 who are brand new! After the morning session and lunch we had new director training.

We would like to put this regional concept training in place across the state. If your region is interested sign up now to get on the calendar!

It's almost time for our annual fall conference!

We met last Friday in Beattyville to work on an exciting new project and the upcoming conference. As with any conference we are still working out some final details, but the registration form is attached. Please follow the directions. A brief agenda is also attached.

We will be staying at the Hilton in Pikeville and there is a special rate for Main Street.

We have our own reservation page! Register at

A new business is almost ready to open! The Bully Gorilla Bar plans to open at the end of this month at 117 Market House Square. This bar and restaurant will add additional excitement to the already bustling historic downtown Paducah. Today, Tommy McElrath and Julie Fuller with The Bully Gorilla received a $15,000 New Business Grant from the City to assist with the renovations of this historic space. Welcome to downtown!

There will be no Main Street Monday next week. KYMS will be attending the Alabama Main Street conference in Decatur, Alabama. Calls and emails will be returned as quickly as possible!

There are lots of great learning/training opportunities coming up this fall including our own Kentucky Main Street conference. These are some others you, your board, or your government officials might like to attend. If you local leaders are attending KLC ask them to sit in on the downtown sessions!

The Brushy Fork Leadership Institute, a Strategic Initiative of Berea College, has scheduled the 2019 Brushy Fork Leadership Summit for September 18 to 20 on the campus of Berea College. The Leadership Summit will begin with an intensive early bird session, Exploring the Landscape for Leadership Development in Appalachia, held at Boone Tavern on September 18. The Summit also will feature intensive hands-on workshop tracks on September 19 and 20. This year's tracks are led by experts and provide ten hours of instruction in the following:

Leadership for Community Reconciliation: Explore how to approach divisions in communication and action in our communities by recognizing biases and assumptions and practice techniques for moderating discussions around difficult issues.

Personal Leadership Development: Discover your natural strengths using the Strengths-Based Leadership tool and consider conflict and communication styles based on the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator.

Using Data for Effective Leadership: Explore how to develop clear goals, supported by research, and learn about what kinds of research and data are useful in each stage of any project: diagnosing issues; determining solutions; implementing strategies; and evaluating results.

Leadership for Strategic Community Results: Consider how to create a vision, build trust, and engage the broader community in development efforts. Learn from people in ordinary communities that have achieved extraordinary results through the efforts of local leaders.

Executive Nonprofit Leadership: Go beyond the basics of nonprofits. Explore practical approaches to executive-level issues, such as creating and communicating a strategic vision, planning for leadership succession, and handling executive level communications with funders and board members.

Women and Leadership: Articulate your own leadership goals and explore balancing responsibility with self-care to help renew your strength as you face challenging roles. Consider how to seek and work with mentors to help you along the way and be a mentor to those who are following you on the path to resilient leadership.

The registration fee is $325 and includes the optional early bird, workshop tracks, meals, and materials. Attendees are responsible for their own lodging.

You can register online at: http://2019_brushyforkleadershipsummit.eventbrite.com.

If you have questions, please contact Donna Daniels at danielsd@berea.edu or Debbie Kirk at kirkd@berea.edu or call Brushy Fork at 859-985-3858.

Our own Teresa Mays, Beattyville director is quickly becoming a celebrity! She and Donnie are filming more episodes for the show "Moonshiners" and recently part of a music video with Apalachee Falls. We'll share when it is ready!

Another view of the recently completed pocket park in Cynthia! They are now working on several murals throughout the downtown!

It was a great time in Maysville this past weekend!

And just down the road in Winchester! Students with Interact Winchester, from left, Imani Hooker, Destiny Napier and Jeremy Reed, started their first of four interactive murals in downtown Winchester Thursday. The mural, which depicts a group of friendly dogs that passersby can stop and pose with as if they are walking them, is being painted on the Cupcake Apothecary building near the courthouse on Main Street.

Other murals are planned for Harper's Pawn Shop, The Winchester Sun and a vacant building at the corner of Main and Broadway streets. Donations for the project are still being collected and can be made to the Interact Winchester account at D&S Hardware.
